

Kennedy Rejects Castro Guantanamo Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States turned aside Monday a Castro demand for Guantanamo, continued aerial surveillance of Cuba and maintained its naval blockade of the island.

It was made clear that these measures will continue until U.N. inspectors can supervise the withdrawal of nuclear weapons from island bases, as promised Sunday by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Meanwhile, there was no answer to the key question of whether the orders the Soviet leader announced Sunday morning are being carried out.

Community Chest Hits Three-Quarters Of Goal

WITH $13,191.02 in additional contributions to the United Appeal of the Community Chest and Red Cross reported last night, the total rose to $81,636.02 or about 75 per cent of the goal needed to support the 13 member agencies.

Campaign chairman Nelson Westbrook at the dinner meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel expressed his satisfaction with the reports and the hard work they represent but warned that the remaining 25 per cent may be harder than the previous 75 per cent.

India Scorns Peace Overtures By Reds

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Boltstered by the promise of U.S. military aid, India scorned Pieping peace overtures and rushed reinforcements to the front Monday to face Chinese Communist troops driving deeper southward behind superior firepower.

A government spokesman put Indian losses at 2,000 to 2,500 dead or missing in 10 days but claimed the Communists were suffering much heavier casualties in attacking waves.

Chinese capture of Demchok, close to the undefined Kashmir border, was conceded in the deepest thrust the Communists have made across the frontier in the northwest since they launched their big offensive Oct. 20.

The Indians gave up Demchok, a 14,000-foot high outpost, after bitter fighting against superior forces, the spokesman said. Demchok is about 300 miles southeast of Srinagar, the capital of Kashmir.

Informed sources in Assam claimed a victory by the Indians in recapturing Jang, four miles east of the strategic Buddhist center of Towang on the northeast front. The informants said this put the Indians in a stronger position for retaking the monastery town, which fell to the invaders Oct. 25.

Avoid Questions

Prior to this somewhat cryptic announcement, both the Pentagon and White House both had persistently turned aside questions about whether there is evidence the reported orders by Khrushchev are or are not being carried out.

This stirred speculation that there is as yet no evidence that President Kennedy followed up on the diplomatic front Monday by appointing a special three-man committee to work out arrangements with acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, who flies to Cuba Tuesday.

The committee members, who will work along with U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, are John J. McCloy, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick.

McCloy, a New York banker, has held high government jobs in the past, including U.S. high commissioner in Germany and presidential disarmament adviser.

Khrushchev sent a special envoy, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov, to the U.N. negotiations.

Greeted as a sign of a relaxing atmosphere was a White House announcement that Kennedy probably will hold a news conference Thursday afternoon, his first in six weeks.

Military Readiness

The official Washington stance of keeping at readiness militarily in case of any breakdown in the Cuba settlement procedures was underscored in statements by administration spokesmen.

The White House said U.S. ships will remain on station in their quarantine duties until the United Nations establishes an effective inspection system for the removal of the offensive weapons.

DeGaulle Quiet In Victory

PARIS (AP)—Paris newspapers pulled out big black type Monday to proclaim "De Gaulle Stays."

No official word has come from the president since the results were tabulated of Sunday's referendum on popular election of future presidents. He stayed at his country home at Colombey-les-Deux-Églises in eastern France, resting and reflecting, and apparently confided his thoughts to no one.

But official circles seemed to be taking it for granted the president would return to Paris Tuesday, and preside over the weekly cabinet meeting Wednesday.

The election results showed that the project for direct election of De Gaulle's successors—rather than by an indirect sort of electoral college system—had captured 61.76 per cent approval from those who cast ballots. The black note was that because of abstentions and "no" votes, only 46.44 per cent of the registered voters had given formal backing.

"Remarkable Victory"

"The 61.76 per cent 'oui' vote is certainly a remarkable victory, in view of the fact that almost all the political parties and most of the newspapers were against it," one source close to the government said. I can't see how anyone could interpret it as a result that would cause the president to leave."

This echoed a statement from Premier Georges Pompidou, who said he could find nothing "mediocre or doubtful" about the results.

De Gaulle said in a radio-television speech during the campaign that he would be forced to retire from office if the results were "weak, mediocre or doubtful."

De Gaulle diplomatically refrained from naming any percentage figures that he would interpret as the warm response that he said was necessary for him to continue his task.

All Claim Victory

Almost all political parties claimed a victory, but in most cases the statements had a hollow ring. The figures indicated that calls for a "no" vote by the Socialists, Radical Socialists, Popular Republican Movement, and Independents-Peasants had influenced only about 10 per cent of the electorate. These four big parties make up the center groups that ruled France during the Fourth Republic.

Khrushchev's orders are being carried out and that the administration is reluctant to acknowledge this lest such an announcement endanger diplomatic negotiations for U.N.-supervised removal of the nuclear rockets.

No official source would confirm this theory. But White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said more information would be available within 48 hours at the United Nations.

The lack of information was in marked contrast to the situation last week when information was released freely as the administration sought to support its charge of a dangerous Soviet missile buildup.

Secrecy Lid Tightened

U.S. Maintains Vigilance On Caribbean Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — New aerial photographs of Soviet missile bases in Cuba were taken by U.S. reconnaissance planes Monday, the Defense Department said. But it added that analysis of the data obtained would not be ready until Tuesday.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester announced Tuesday that surveillance flights over Cuba were made today. All aircraft returned safely. The read-outs from the pictures taken will not be completed until tomorrow.

Sylvester would not say whether flights were made Sunday—from which pictures presumably would have been available Monday.

Thus left unanswered was whether the United States has any evidence indicating the execution or nonexecution of orders that Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Sunday he had given for removal of nuclear weapons from the island.

The Pentagon spokesman made his announcement after publication of one report that the surveillance flights had been suspended.

Flights Continue

His announcement showed that more than one plane flight was made Monday to check up on whether the missile sites in Cuba were being dismantled. He used the words "flights" and "all aircraft."

Read-out is the term used by scientists and military men for analyzing data obtained from the instruments, cameras or other devices.

Asked whether flights would continue until U.N. inspection teams take over, Sylvester answered, "I wouldn't make any assumption that they won't."

Prior to Sylvester's announcement, both he and White House press secretary Pierre Salinger had avoided answering questions about what's happening at the Soviets' Cuban missile sites.

Salinger told newsmen he was not prepared to answer when asked if the U.S. reconnaissance planes still are flying over Cuba. Sylvester's answer, after a Pentagon briefing, was "I presume it is continuing." He refused to say whether new reports have been received since Sunday morning when Khrushchev announced the withdrawal orders.

No Explanation

Neither man had any immediate explanation of why there was no comment on something of which the Cubans and Soviets undoubtedly are aware.

The official silence on the results of aerial surveillance since Khrushchev's announcement naturally stirred speculation that the reconnaissance might have disclosed no action yet to carry out the reported Moscow instructions.

If that is the case, the administration may be reluctant to release the information lest it imperil the just-started negotiations through the United Nations for supervised dismantling of the bases and return of the nuclear rockets to Russia.

No administration source would comment on this theory.

The lack of information contrasted sharply with last week's flow of news when the Pentagon released frequent and detailed reports—plus pictures—to back its claim of a dangerous buildup of Soviet rocket power.

When this was called to Salinger's attention and a newsmen contended information should be available on the current situation, the White House press secretary said:

"I can't answer your question." Asked whether the Defense Department will release such information soon, Salinger said, "I couldn't tell you that."

Might Shift To U.N.

There were growing indications that the U.S. military's role in the missile-base surveillance and the ship quarantine might shift to the United Nations.

Acting Secretary-General U Thant is due in Havana Tuesday to talk about maintaining the truce in the almost-hot war, and implementing of Moscow's promise to withdraw the rockets.

The big fleet of U.S. warships which went on blockade duty last Tuesday morning to check for Cuban-bound vessels carrying offensive weapons "will remain on station pending an arrangement by the United Nations for effective inspection," Sylvester said.

U Thant Heads For Cuba, Heartened By Developments

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Acting Secretary-General U Thant was described as heartened by his talks Monday with U.S. and Soviet and Cuban representatives aimed at resolving the crisis over Soviet missile bases in Cuba.

Thant held the talks on the eve of his departure Tuesday morning for Havana in a U.N.-chartered Brazilian airliner with a team of U.N. officials and military experts.

His task—admittedly a delicate one—is to negotiate for U.N. verification of dismantling and removal of the Soviet-installed bases.

The acting secretary-general held a two-hour meeting Monday morning with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov who was named special envoy of Premier Khrushchev for the U.N. negotiations.

Constructive Meeting

A U.N. spokesman who was present said it was a good meeting, and that the Soviet delegate came up with "constructive suggestions about practical steps for the implementation of agreements already reached with the aim of settling the crisis over Cuba."

Thant met also with Cuban Ambassador Mario Garcia-Inchausti, who told Thant his visit to Havana is most welcome. He said Raul Primelles, Cuba's deputy permanent U.N. representative, would accompany Thant on the Havana flight.

Thant also met Monday with U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson and John J. McCloy, a veteran U.S. troubleshooter who is chairman of President Kennedy's newly appointed three-man coordinating committee on the Cuban crisis.

The other two members are Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick.

McCloy has been special adviser to Stevenson during the Cuban crisis. Ball and Gilpatrick rushed from Washington to confer with Thant and Stevenson prior to their appointment with Thant.

Report To Kennedy

The three-man committee will report directly to President Kennedy, but operate under the supervision of Stevenson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The committee is expected to be concerned primarily with carrying out the U.S.-Soviet deal as disclosed in the exchange of letters over the weekend between Kennedy and Khrushchev.

Khrushchev promised to dismantle the bases under U.N. inspection and halt the delivery of offensive weapons to Castro. In turn Kennedy pledged to end the U.S. naval arms quarantine and not to invade Cuba.

A U.S. spokesman was asked if the appointment of the three-man committee meant any downgrading of Stevenson's role in the crisis. The spokesman replied that Stevenson was one of the U.S. Cabinet officials who would exercise supervision over the committee's work, and that he had requested Washington to supply qualified experts for the detailed negotiations.

Three Military Aides

A U.N. spokesman said three military aides will be in the U.N. team that will accompany Thant.

In a related development Thant introduced a resolution in the General Assembly's main Political Committee proposing that the United Nations declare both Africa and Latin America demilitarized zones. It called on all member states not to use those parts of the world for testing, storing or transporting "nuclear weapons or carrying devices."

Dr. Koehler Takes Issue On Snyder ESSC Charges

DR. LEROY J. KOEHLER, president of East Stroudsburg State College, yesterday took issue with remarks Gerald F. Snyder made concerning union activities at the college.

Snyder, Republican candidate for the State General Assembly, had charged that Van D. Yetter, his Democratic opponent, destroyed the union of non-instructional employees on ESSC's campus.

Dr. Koehler's full statement follows:

"My attention has been called to the fact that Mr. Gerald Snyder has accused Mr. Van D. Yetter of destroying the union of State non-instructional employees on the East Stroudsburg State College campus.

"It is unfortunate that the college should now become a target for political attack since the administration of the college has made every effort to maintain an attitude of neutrality during the present political campaign.

"Previous to my assuming the Presidency of the College, all labor organizers were barred from the campus and prevented from speaking to employees on the campus. Under my administration, the labor representative was freely permitted to solicit memberships, and all employees were granted the privilege of joining the union of State employees.

"In spite of valiant efforts on the part of the Union, the organization was unable to secure a majority membership of our non-instructional employees. The labor representative was informed in my office in the presence of witnesses that if the Union at any time had a majority membership, an election would be held to establish them as a bargaining agency for the non-instructional staff. Since the Union never requested an election, I assumed that the Union had never succeeded in obtaining a majority membership. In spite of this fact, the Business Manager and the President of the College met with representatives of the Union and considered any complaints about working conditions on numerous occasions.

"In my opinion, the administration of the college could not have assumed a fairer attitude on union activities than existed on our campus.

"At no time, did Mr. Van D. Yetter have any influence on this policy, and the entire labor policy on our campus was completely under supervision of the President of the College.

"This written statement is submitted for publication since Mr. Snyder's accusation has twice been published in the local press and has been stated over WVPO. We are, of course, assuming that Mr. Snyder was misinformed, and will correct the statement about college opposition to a Union organization on the campus."

Fire Kills Two Young Children

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A fire that started in a couch fatally injured two young children and badly injured the father and another child Monday in their home in suburban Conemaugh. The mother escaped serious injury.

Heleen Surap, 1, and her brother, Rickie, 2, died two hours apart in Lee Hospital a few hours after the fire.

William, 4, was listed in critical condition suffering from burns.

Henry Surap, 28, the father, was reported serious with burns, smoke inhalation, shock and cuts. Mrs. Surap, 25, was treated for shock and minor burns and released.

A fourth child was in school at the time.

Firemen said Surap started dragging the couch from the living room when he discovered it smoldering. When he was half-way out the door, the couch erupted into flames, which shot up the walls and into a stairway, then upstairs.

Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to three other homes in the four-family building. They could not learn immediately how the couch caught on fire.

Young GOP Answers Demos

RAY ROBERTS, vice president of the Monroe County Young Republicans Club, last night issued a challenge to the Young Democrats to a public discussion. One of the points the GOP seeks a debate on is the alleged use of State Highway equipment by Van D. Yetter, Democratic candidate for assemblyman, to improve his property in Marshalls Creek.

"Another point we would like to discuss," Roberts said, "is the virtues of the candidates instead of proving their intentions for the organization."

Also in question by the Young Republicans is the candidate's position on school reorganization, state civil service and other matters directly affecting Monroe County.

Roberts added, "Let us look at the facts on the accomplishments for which Yetter takes the credit. First, the ~~State~~ Control Project: This was the result of the efforts of the assemblyman from Monroe County combined with the Department of Forest and Waters and the local borough councils. However, The Assemblyman who initiated this program was Hanford L. Cleveland, the Republican predecessor of Yetter."

He continued, "Next the Stroudsburg Thruway: This

Argus Miller, 77, Bushkill

ARGUS MILLER, 77, of Bushkill, was found in the woods near his home yesterday at 10 a.m. by William Eriscoe, an employee of the State Highway Department.

H. James Collin, Pike County Coroner, was notified and issued a death certificate stating "death due to a heart attack" following his investigation.

State Police, Milford barracks, aiding Coroner Collin, said Miller had left his home earlier in the morning to go hunting.

Miller had been under treatment for a heart disorder with nitro pills which were found in his pockets. The pills are used in treatment of heart disorders.

He was born in Middle Smithfield Township a son of the late Isaac and Anna Treble Miller and he had resided in the Bushkill area most of his lifetime.

During the greater part of his lifetime he worked as a blacksmith in the area.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Bushkill Reform Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Miller, of home; four brothers, Daniel, Stroudsburg; Jacob, East Stroudsburg; and Charles, East Stroudsburg; and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Maser, Greentown, Pa., and Mrs. Fred Focke, East Stroudsburg.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the Lanterman Funeral Home with the Revs. Robert Tulenko and Harold E. Eaton officiating.

Interment will be in Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg.

Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home Thursday after 7 p.m.

Frank Hobbs, Former Resident

FRANK HOBBS, 80, former resident of Stroudsburg, died yesterday at 12:15 p.m. in the Masonic Home, Elizabethtown, Pa. where he had been a guest for the past several years.

Hobbs was a former employee of the Erie Railroad as a tool room foreman and during World War II, was employed by the International Boiler Works, East Stroudsburg.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg; Barger Lodge No. 325 F&AM; Monroe Royal Arch Chapter No. 281; and the Samuel S. Yohe Commander of Knights Templar No. 81, all of Stroudsburg. Hobbs was also a member of the Irem Temple Shrine, Wilkes-Barre.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Pauline Hobbs Shire, Clemson, S. C.; Mrs. Charlotte Hobbs Baugh, Hellertown, Pa., and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Dunkelberger and Westbrook Funeral Home with the Rev. John A. Bollier, officiating.

Interment will be in the Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may pay their respects Wednesday after 7 p.m. in the Funeral Home.

Masonic services will be held at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Violet Butz Of Eastburg

MRS. VIOLET E. Butz, 60, of 611 Chestnut St., East Stroudsburg, died Sunday at 9:10 p.m. in the General Hospital of Monroe County. She had been in ill health the past two and one-half years and was admitted to the hospital Thursday, Oct. 26.

Born in Middle Smithfield Township, she was a daughter of the late Frank and Lydia Cusard Gould.

Mrs. Butz had lived the greater part of her lifetime in the East Stroudsburg area.

She was a member of Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg; Order of Eastern Star 99, East Stroudsburg; and Order of Amaranth 110, Stroudsburg.

In addition to her husband, Floyd Butz, at home, she is survived by two sons, Floyd Jr., and Willard, both of East Stroudsburg; one daughter, Mrs. Doris Hahn, East Stroudsburg; 11 grandchildren; one brother, Austin Gould, East Stroudsburg; three sisters, Mrs. Leona Riggs, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Walter Lathrop, East Stroudsburg; and Mrs. Virginia Buseman, Drexel Hill.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Lanterman Funeral Home with the Rev. Joseph N. Carr Jr., officiating.

Interment will be in the Laurelwood Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home Wednesday after 7 p.m.

Memorial services will be conducted in the funeral home by Order of Eastern Star Wednesday at 8 p.m. The Order of Amaranth will conduct their services following the OES.

Col. Kale Is Honored At Depot Testimonial Fete

TOBYHANNA — Approximately 200 soldiers and civilians joined last night to honor Tobyhanna Army Depot Commander Lester W. Kale at a farewell dinner in the post cafeteria.

Col. Kale, who retires tomorrow after 33 years Army service, was lauded by a succession of military and civilian speakers, many of whom presented him with farewell tokens of esteem.

Highlight of the after-dinner activities was a symbolic change of command ceremony during which Col. Kale handed a huge key to his successor, Col. Dayton W. Eddy.

In presenting the key, Col. Kale said, "I know of no greater blessing for any man, Tobyhanna Depot has been the best place I ever worked. I never had an assignment so rewarding and so satisfying."

Turning to the dinner audience, he then said, "I know you will give Col. Eddy the same warm, willing and enthusiastic support you have given me."

Col. Eddy in his remarks urged Col. Kale to look upon his retirement as "just another change of stations." He then presented Col. Kale with a plaque from all personnel of the depot "in recognition of distinguished service and outstanding leadership."

Forest Fire Burns In LaAnna Area

LAANNA — A forest fire of undetermined origin was burning late last night on the old Sterling Carlton property. It was being kept under surveillance by employees of the Department of Forests and Waters but no firemen had been called to the scene.

It is believed to have been started by a hunter in the area earlier in the day. At 4 p.m. it had burned halfway down the mountainside and was traveling in a southerly direction.

Firemen from Greene-Dreher Fire Co., Newfoundland, have been alerted but can not report to the scene until the company is called by the property owner.

It was reported, as The Daily Record Record went to press, that no homes were in danger.

Eastburg Man Released On Bail

PETER M. Strunk, 64, of 138 Meyer St., East Stroudsburg, was released yesterday by Justice of the Peace Harold D. Larson, on $500 bail. His hearing was waived until the next term of Monroe County court.

Strunk had been apprehended by East Stroudsburg Police Sunday night. He was charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Scouts' Reorganizational Dinner - Meeting On Jan. 12

DR. PAUL SIPLE will be the guest speaker at the reorganizational dinner of Delaware Valley Area, Boy Scouts of America, on January 12. The location will be announced later.

The calendar for November, as given by John J. Pentz Jr., Pocono District Chairman, is as follows: Thursday, Nov. 1, the Cubber's Basic Session will be held in Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg; Nov. 5, Commissioners' meeting at 8 p.m. in the Monroe County YMCA, Stroudsburg; Nov. 13, Cub, Boy Scout and Explorer Leaders Roundtable meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Arlington Heights Elementary School.

Other Events

On Nov. 15 the District Committee annual dinner meeting will get underway at 6:30 p.m. in Wyckoff's Tea Room; Nov. 19 is the Eagle Board of Review, and Nov. 28 the district first aid meeting will be held. The place of the meeting will be announced at a later date.

District Chairman Pentz announced that four scout leaders were recently presented with awards.

Getting awards were Martin B. Rowen, scoutmaster, Troop 83, St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, a "Scouter's Key;" Herbert Ayers Jr., scoutmaster, Troop 300, Arlington Heights PTA, "Scouter's Award;" William N. Sheeley, assistant scoutmaster, Troop 86, Stroudsburg Methodist Church, "Scouter's Award;" and John G. Stark, assistant district commissioner, Pocono District, "Arrowhead Honor."

McSparran was a candidate for governor in the primary election. He was defeated by Scranton.

He told the group, "I have come here asking you people, both Republican and Democrats, to vote for the Republican candidates. I base this on having worked with State government in Harrisburg for the past 10 years and I am convinced the state needs a Republican victory on Nov. 6."

McSparran also discussed House Bill 561, School Reorganization, and said the bill as it stands now will ruin the rural school districts unless it is modified.

He urged Monroe County Republicans to back Gerald Snyder for Assemblyman and show their backing at the poles on Nov. 6.

McSparran said, referring to Van D. Yetter, Jr., "Yetter's voting record in Harrisburg is a tragedy. The people in the area would be better off sending an old locust pole with a string attached to it so that when the party wanted a vote all they would have to do is pull the string."

Harris Files Suit Against Small Over Pre-Primary Ad

A TRESPASS action for libel asking damages in excess of $5,000 was filed in Monroe County Court yesterday by Hal H. Harris against Mayor Joseph H. Small of Stroudsburg.

Harris, a Democrat, charges that a newspaper advertisement published in The Daily Record on Nov. 4, 1961, and paid for by Small was "false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory" to Harris.

Harris was a candidate for mayor at the time. He lost to Small in the general election.

The suit also charges that the statement was published so close to Election Day that the plaintiff, Harris, "had insufficient time within which to undo the harm and damage done to him by the defendant before the electorate had to vote one way or the other on plaintiff's and defendant's candidacies for the same office."

Alleges Remarks False

It also states: The plaintiff (Harris) avers that the words set forth in said advertisement were and are false and that only false inference could be drawn from reading the same.

The defendant, at the time of the publication of the aforesaid advertisement, knew, or should have known, that the words set forth in said advertisement were false, untrue, defamatory in nature, would injure the plaintiff politically, and otherwise, and were libelous."

The text of the advertisement on which the suit is based was: Yes, $100,000 is a lot of money BUT it took George Robinson and a JUDGMENT in Monroe County Court

Some persons who read the advertisement, or heard of it from other people, believed it to be true, or substantially true and believed for the duration of the political campaign, that plaintiff, Hal H. Harris, was dishonest, crooked, a thief, a corrupt politician and unworthy to hold public office."

"Special Harm"

The suit charges that the advertisement resulted in "special harm contributing to plaintiff's defeat in said election" and concludes: "As a result of the defendant's action aforesaid in publishing or having published as aforesaid said political advertisement, plaintiff has been and is greatly injured in his good name, credit and reputation, all of which has been to his great financial loss and damage."

The suit was filed by Kenneth Lewis, East Stroudsburg attorney, in the office of N. Henry Fenner, Monroe County prothonotary and clerk of courts. Small has 20 days in which to plead to the suit after being formally served with notice of it.

The play, a comedy, is "full of honey touches and roughness" (New York Times) and is rated delightful experience for the whole family.

The

An Unblemished Record

For fifteen consecutive terms, Congressman Francis E. Walter has served his district and his nation with a dedication that has been matched by few since the birth of the United States. He has announced his willingness to serve another term in this important post, in order that some of the vitally important work that has begun may be completed, and to use his vast knowledge to guide our nation in the trying days that are bound to lie ahead.

When Congressman Walter announced earlier this year that he would retire at the completion of his current term, The Daily Record exhorted him editorially to reconsider and to continue to give his dedicated service to the people he represents. He accepted the plea, and we now fully endorse him as a candidate for reelection, feeling that it will serve the best interests of our area and our nation.

Mr. Walter's record in Congress is an unblemished account of service to all the people, regardless of political affiliations, race, creed or color. He is ranking member of the full 34-member Judiciary Committee. His seniority in the House of Representatives is recognized by leading legislators of both major political parties.

His work as chairman of the Subcommittees on Immigration and Nationality and Administrative Procedures, as well as the Un-American Activities Committee, has won him the praise of the nation as well as his thanks.

His humanitarian work in internationally concerted moves to provide a new home and the opportunity to start a new life for countless victims of Nazi and Communist persecution, have won him the everlasting gratitude of oppressed people. He has been honored by several foreign governments for his efforts.

We could recount many of the accomplishments of this conscientious servant of the people, but they are well known and are all part of the record for posterity.

For our own area, one of Mr. Walter's greatest achievements was the establishment of the Delaware River Basin Compact—a document so unique in its scope that it is being studied as a pattern for similar agreements. His steering of the project which will create the Tocks Island Dam and a huge national recreation area in our midst is now on the way to accomplishment. It is important that Congressman Walter be on hand to see it through.

The seniority of Congressman Walter has given stature to the district he represents, as well as giving us a seasoned and experienced legislator in Washington. His service and his record speak for themselves.

In the best interests of the people in the Fifteenth Congressional District and the nation, The Daily Record staunchly endorses the candidacy of Francis E. Walter, and urges the voters to return him to Congress as long as he is willing to serve as our Representative.

UN—World Watchdog

Among two or three foremost facts about the Cuban crisis the existence—an effective existence—of the United Nations stands out. President Kennedy's decision to lay down an embargo against shipments of offensive weapons to Cuba has been attacked as a "unilateral" action. Under the terms of the UN Charter it is possible to define it that way.

But that is not to say that it was taken without regard for the UN. Nor is it being sustained to the detriment of that organization.

On the contrary it has concentrated UN influence on one of the most dangerous trouble spots in the world in a way which can prevent the danger from increasing. For let it be clear: the danger was there, as Adlai Stevenson has so ably emphasized. It was growing hourly, before the President acted.

In judging governmental action on international problems nowadays the public must never forget that the existence of the UN makes certain actions unfeasible which before the UN's advent would have entailed possible "calculated risks." It also makes feasible some actions that without it might be over-risky.

Mr. Kennedy knew this when he laid down the embargo. The swift action of the United States to take its case to the UN, once it had focused world attention on the danger of Soviet-supplied missile bases in Cuba is further evidence that the strategy is much more than unilateral.

The moral is that because the UN is there, governments cannot overlook it—and neither can peoples when weighing their governmental actions.

What Is A Blockade?

In international relations, there is no such formality as a quarantine except for hoof and mouth disease, smallpox and similar ailments. What President Kennedy did was to institute a blockade of Cuba and let us call a spade a spade.

A blockade is an act of war, but there have been different methods and different attitudes about it. For instance in 1914, the State Department held:

"...The existence of war between foreign governments does not suspend trade or commerce between this country and those at war. This right to continue to trade with belligerents is upheld by the well-recognized principles of international law."

One of the most important amenities of a blockade is that there must be notice. This undoubtedly explains the pains that President Kennedy took to make the blockade of Cuba known to the world. The rule on the subject is:

"If a neutral vessel attempting to enter a blockaded port has had notice of the blockade in any way, she shall be captured and sent in for adjudication; but should formal notice not have been given, the rule of constructive knowledge arising from notoriety should be construed in a manner liberal to the neutral."

A blockade must be limited to the ports of the enemy. In the case of Cuba, there was no war, but a threat of war; no enemy, but the assumption that a foreign power had taken control of Cuba for inimical purposes. Yet that foreign power, Soviet Russia, had not been declared to be an enemy. At most, the President had pronounced its officials to be liars, but a liar is not necessarily an enemy.

This explains the use of the term quarantine for this particular blockade.

In May 1915 "...The Department of State instructed the Ambassador in Rome to inform the Italian Foreign Office that it appeared that the coasts of a non-combatant had been declared blockaded and that the Adriatic had virtually been declared a closed sea; that in the opinion of the United States there was no authority in international law or usage for this action."

The United States has, in effect, in the present blockade, shut the Caribbean off from the rest of the world. But at this time, such weapons exist as the world has not known before and it is essential that this country defend itself from the use of these weapons against her.

Heretofore, it had been assumed that the Russians possessed weapons which they could employ through their own soil to damage the United States. However, it appears that the Russians need to depend upon weapons outside of Russia to bury us. They have therefore established a base 90 miles from our coast with the object of firing weapons at us to destroy our principal cities.

This being so, the United States would indeed be governed by means not to take strong measures to defend this country from such losses. The only possible criticism of the President's action is that he waited over long, but no man wants to bring on a nuclear war if there are other ways. Neither the President nor anyone else could tell in advance what the effect of a blockade would be.

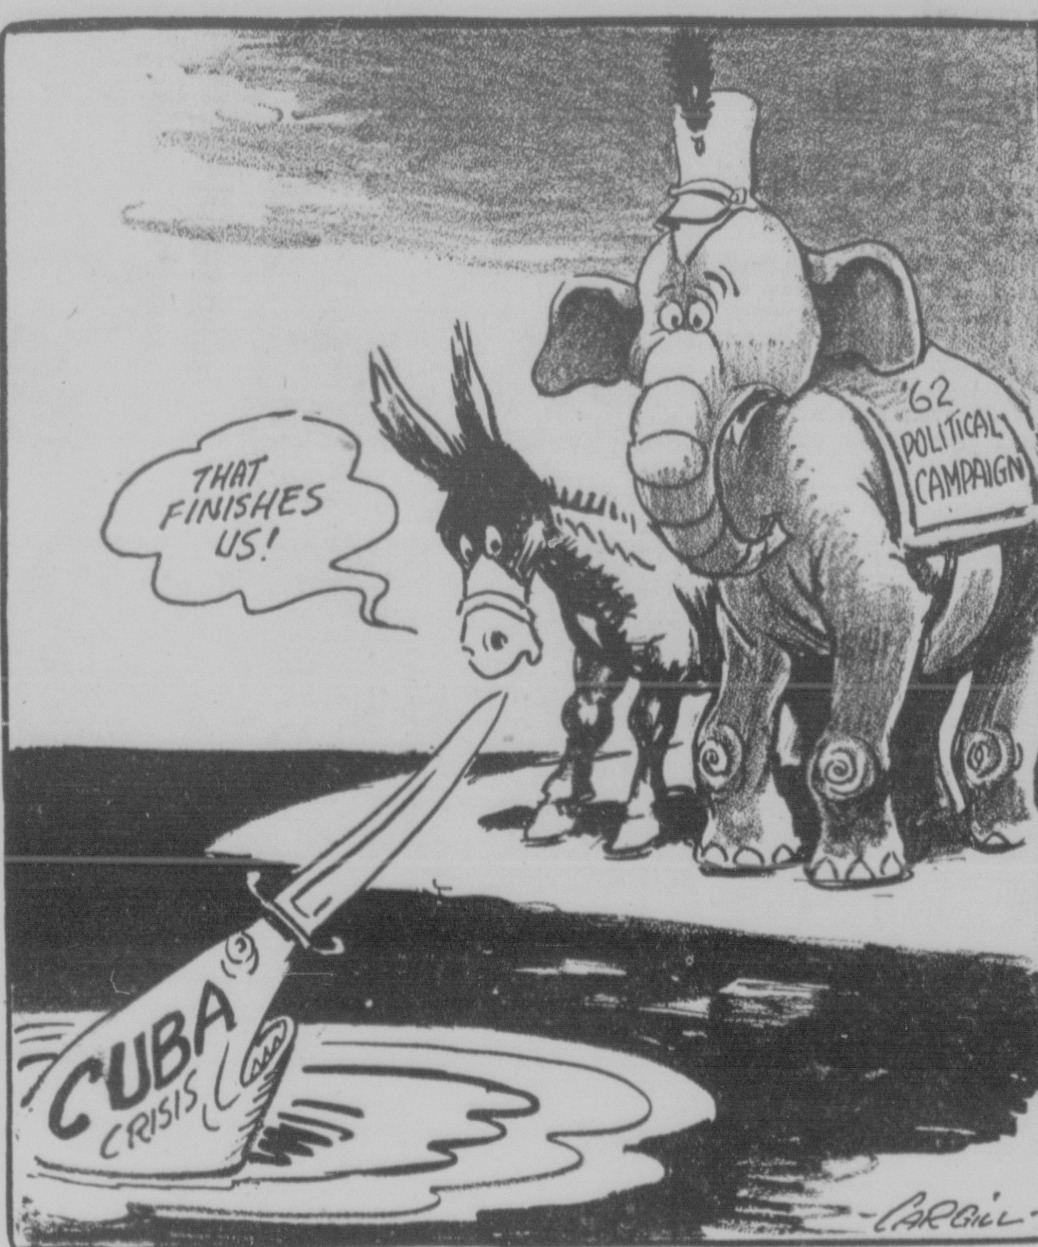

It is interesting to note that when during World War I, the Allied governments proposed to blockade Communist Russia, the State Department held:

"...A blockade before a state of war exists is out of the question. It could not be recognized by this Government."

In 1921 it is recognized that a peculiar state of war does exist between Soviet Russia and the United States, the "Cold War." It is a war for position which does not include belligerency. As such a war is unknown in technical international relations, it has to be conducted without rules.

There is a war, but no enemy in a technical sense. Perhaps John Foster Dulles best described it as on the brink of war and a new word, brinkmanship, came into the language. The fact is that it has been constant from about 1917-1948. It has been nerve-racking, costly, and has impeded the liquidation of World War I. It has been a horrible experience in history.

Thus, if the Cold War can exist, a blockade can be employed without a declared enemy.

The Pennsylvania Story

Unprecedented Election Interest

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — An unprecedented interest is being shown in election slated for one week from today.

This simple fact is obvious notwithstanding the complaints of some on-the-surface pundits and political harpists on both sides of the fence who contend that interest in the current campaign has been lackluster and in some instances almost lacking.

Virtually every page in the book belies this dire contention. A quick look at the facts shows an entirely different picture.

In the first place the number of Pennsylvanians registered to take part in the critical statewide contest one week from today is at an unprecedented high for a gubernatorial runoff — at better than 5 million, the highest in the history of the state!

Of course not all of those registered will vote — but this isn't quite the point; rather the point is that the simple act of registering does require an expenditure of time and effort and in many cases, standing in line. Unless there is some interest it is generally felt that few will indeed "waste" this time and effort to update a personal registration. After all, they don't "have" to register.

The closest Pennsylvania ever came to reaching the present registration figure in a gubernatorial election was the past scramble of 1968 when Governor Lawrence squeezed into office by a shaky 76,083 vote margin. That year the total registration figure stood at 5,397,407.

The quick-comeback answer might well be one contending that this registration isn't so great after all, considering Pennsylvania's population of 11,319,366. But — it should be remembered that this total population figure includes those several million under age 21 and therefore not eligible to register and vote!

Seemingly this year the registration figures almost speak for themselves insofar as interest in next Tuesday's contest is concerned.

But there are other facets that are indicative.

For example, as the candidates of both parties have moved about the state this fall there seemingly has been greater interest and attendance at rallies and meetings than in many a recent year.

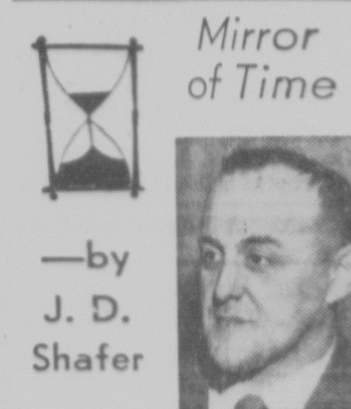

This applies insofar as Republicans are concerned, as well as Democrats.

We mention this "qualification" point because almost invariably the "in power" party — whether Democrat or Republican — can be counted upon to attract nominally healthy-sized crowds.

This year however — where the compulsion element has been (unwittingly, of course) extinct insofar as Republicans are concerned — the consistent crowds turning out for GOP rallies has been amazing, even to party old pros.

This is not to say that Pennsylvania Democrats have not been turning out the crowds too — they have; but in the case of donkey riders there is present, by virtue of the fact that they are the in-office and in-power faction, the "compulsion" factor ever present.

But to this columnist, one of the most significant indicators of interest has been an unprecedented flow of letters, postcards and general comment from readers expressing their views pro and con — a total expression never heretofore approached!

Poet's Corner

THE GOLDEN GRAY AND THE PURPLE VINE
There is no book, no single line;
No brush, nor even paint
Of rarest color or design;
No word of knave or Saint -

The only gold or red, or "blue" -
(The soft sky blends between),
Or crab-apple, or rust or rue,
Than can be felt and seen,

And heard as well, when
Autumn shakes
The leaves in gentle breeze -
Are the living fields and crystal lakes,
And growing fruits and trees.

But for their beauty and their lush,
Born of Maternal sod,
The soul must join the Celestial hush,

And know the breath of God.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Whether it was psychic or just plain luck, Jack Luckey and Charlie Lock couldn't have picked a more opportune time to come up with their next attraction at the Sherman Theatre, Stroudsburg.

The film "Whistle Down The Wind" is the type of movie which will take away some of the taint of the world crisis and leave a person with the feeling that religion plays a definite part in our lives.

The all-British movie stars the newest young face to the screen in Hayley Mills. Co-starring with the youthful lass are Bernard Lee and Alan Bates. Names probably don't mean much in this day of a star born every minute and one dying every 30 seconds. But you'll remember this trio, if only by acting ability.

The screen world has tossed some sour celluloid at the public the last 10 years. But this is not one of those nauseating dreams of a Hollywood-type publicist. "Whistle Down The Wind" has class in music, directing, story and acting. It evolves around two sisters and a brother who come upon a sought murderer and think he is Jesus Christ.

From this point on we would be telling tales out of school to inform of the many light-hearted and touching scenes which keeps the movie going to its expected climax.

Fortunately we were one of those who previewed the film the other day at the request of Luckey and Lock. Aside from the fine workmanship by Miss Mills, her movie brother, and typical British father and aunt, the nearly two-hour wide-screen showing gives the onlooker the lift he needs in this day and age.

"Whistle Down The Wind" is recommended for everyone — six to 77. It's a story about kids but leaves the grownups dreaming of the time they were young too.

It hasn't been often we have gone overboard on cinemas the past 15 years. However this film can't be put aside with no comment. It is a MUST SEE check on your entertainment agenda.

An indignant customer called an electrical supply shop to demand, "What happened to that man you promised to send round to repair my broken doorbell?" "He went to your house like I promised," answered the electrician, "and he stood there ringing that bell for a full fifteen minutes, but nobody answered, so he came back to the shop. You shouldn't be so inconsiderate in the future!"

The Allen-Scott Report

Rusk Partly Sidelined In JFK Cuban Councils

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, October 20—President Kennedy is relying on the advice of one military and three civilian aides in making his military and diplomatic "war or peace" decisions on Cuba.

This closely-knit inner circle of policy makers, which includes the President's brother, are:

McGeorge Bundy, special presidential assistant for national security affairs; General Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

This team has sat in on all meetings and advised the President on every major move, including his decision to have the Navy set up a "selective" quarantine of Cuba.

Significantly, Secretary Rusk is being excluded from this select inner group although his advice is being sought on ways and means of keeping our allies informed of Cuban developments.

The President is also keeping Rusk busy briefing congressmen and foreign diplomats on the policies his "big four" advisers are helping him formulate in the Cuban crisis.

Ambassador Charles "Chip" Bohlen, recalled from Paris, and Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, special adviser on Soviet affairs, are serving the "big four" as the chief specialists from the State Department.

These experts on Soviet affairs were called in to set the policy tone and help write the President's TV-radio address to the nation last week; also to advise the President on possible "Khrushchev reactions" to U.S. military and diplomatic moves.

In one crucial White House meeting, Ambassador Thompson informed the presidential group that there would be far less danger of a direct U.S. - Russian military confrontation over a "selective" blockade than a military invasion of Cuba.

The two Ambassadors also teamed up to convince the President that a copy of his hard-hitting "quarantine" speech should be delivered to Khrushchev in advance of the President's television appearance and briefing of congressional leaders.

This dangerous telegraphing of a major U.S. diplomatic-military decision brought some strong protests from congressional leaders when they learned the President went through with this unprecedented move.

THE QUARTERBACK — Of the "big four" advisers, Presidential Assistant Bundy is the main signal caller.

In addition to his policy-making role, it is Bundy's exclusive task to see that all presidential decisions on Cuba are carried out. He personally selects the various officials and government agencies to direct the implementation of the policies.

Also, Bundy keeps Attorney General Kennedy informed of the chain reaction that sets in around the world following each major U.S. decision.

The "fading" of Secretary Rusk as one of the President's principal advisers already has touched off speculation in congressional quarters that he may be on the way out.

President Kennedy has indicated that if the Cuban crisis leads to a shooting war, he plans to bring a well-known Republican into his Cabinet to assure bipartisan support of his policies.

Congressional critics of Secretary Rusk believe that his strong opposition to a naval blockade last July, when the Soviets shipped their first intermediate-range ballistic missiles to Cuba, may cost him his job.

At that time, it was Rusk's judgment that Khrushchev would not make Cuba a nuclear-missile base despite strong information to the contrary.

In one instance, Representative Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, personally escorted a Cuban refugee to Rusk's office where he outlined Russia's plans to build missile bases on the island. Rusk was polite but later checking by Cooley clearly showed he had disregarded the warning, even though the refugee had furnished the exact locations of two of the missile sites.

As late as September 17, Secretary Rusk told a private Senate Foreign Relations Committee meeting that he was against any type of blockade of Cuba, warning that Great Britain would oppose any such action in the United Nations.

As events now show, this was a major "error in judgment" by Rusk. Britain has notified the U.S. of its full support.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE — After the recent congressional briefing on Cuba, President Kennedy signaled Senator Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., to remain behind.

"Is there anything I can do for you, Mr. President?" Humphrey asked while approaching the President.

"No, Hubert," replied the President. "I just wanted somebody to talk to for a few minutes. Let's walk out into the rose garden."

As the two walked and chatted about Minnesota politics, they ran into Mrs. Kennedy.

Senator Humphrey greeted the First Lady with a big smile, which caused her to remark:

"I am glad to see somebody smiling. This is getting to be a pretty gloomy place."

BRADENTON, Fla. — We thought you might be interested to know that everything down here on the west coast of Florida is moving along normally, in the main, despite the closeness to Cuba with all of its troubles.

There is no panic here; true a few people are laying in food supplies, but they are a very definite minority. It is strange to watch what one community does as opposed to another. For instance, West Gate Shopping Center in Bradenton and about four miles from our own Bayshore Shopping Center, was mobbed with grocery buyers on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, while here in our own area, it was even less than normal.

Friends of ours are constantly receiving frantic calls from the

Guidance Center Is Chest Agency

THE Guidance Center of Northampton and Monroe Counties is a community chest agency which provides a much needed service for residents of Monroe County.

It is supported by the Monroe County Community Chest, Eastern United Fund, county funds, state allocations, contributions and fees. Originally begun as a child guidance center, it now offers treatment for adults as well as children, but its case load consists primarily of children and adolescents up to 18 years of age.

The center offers a consultation service to parents as well as treatment for difficulties in the home, at school or in the neighborhood. Courts and probation officers sometimes turn to the center for help with juveniles who often sorely need treatment over an extensive period of time.

The center operates a clinic in East Stroudsburg opposite Monroe County General Hospital on E. Brown St. It is open Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and appointments may be made by letter or by telephoning the hospital, 421-4000.

Persons requesting appointments by mail are asked to send them to the Guidance Center, 220 Bushkill St., Easton.

north with an admonition to "look up your house and come up here where you will be safe." But very few are heeding the admonition. Practically everyone, in our area at least, are staying right in their own homes. The universal opinion is that we are as safe or perhaps even safer here than some of the highly industrialized communities in the north, should this situation develop into war.

There never has been any frantic rush for air-raid shelters here. In our area you can count the survival cellars on the fingers of one hand.

Favor Calling Bluff

Public opinion as expressed through newspapers and television street interviews, favors the theory that Russia's bluff is being called and that there will be no nuclear war. I attended a meeting of the Bayshore Square Club (Masonic) last night and every man there feels that staying at home is the proper procedure.

I presume that you find the people in your area solidly behind the President in his move to shut off Russian arms from Cuba. People are pleased around here to know that the President was not stampeded into lifting the blockade until every smidge of Russian missile base is eliminated on Cuban lands.

The resorts, motels and hotels in Florida are expecting record business this year and their predictions bring light on their assumption that northern tourism is not going to be frightened away from the sunshine state by the rumors of conflict, once they realize that should war come there is no safe place in this country of ours.

Carrying On As Usual

The Sarasota Herald Tribune in a by-lined story this morning, reported that even in Key West with all its hub-bub militarily, "Main Street and the populace" is carrying on as usual.

Most folks here are optimistic that the Russians will not deliberately open a shooting war, but they are not so sure about that crazy man named Castro in Cuba. Of course in any situation like this there is a certain element that go into panic and in all probability there will be some who will leave the state. But the consensus of opinion here is that it is all so foolish.

Probe Continues In Cause Of Death, Fire In West End

MONROE County Coroner John C. F. Foelker said last night that the investigation in the cause of death to Milo Snyder, 68, of Saylorburg RD (near Brodheadsville) and the cause of the fire will be continued today.

Assisting in the investigation will be Sgt. Donald Unger, Fire Marshal, Pennsylvania State Police; Deputy Coroner Daniel G. Warner, State Police from Fern Ridge and James R. Marsh, Monroe County district attorney.

An autopsy was conducted yesterday in the Monroe County General Hospital by Dr. M. J. Leitner, state and local officials. The report is incomplete as there are several tests to be run on blood specimens and body tissue. This is necessary to determine the cause of death.

Sgt. Unger will return to the scene of the fire today to determine the cause of the blaze. Coroner Foelker said, "It was so hot there when I arrived that as they moved to another spot fire would break out again in the area they had just left," Foelker concluded.

The building, a two-story frame house, was engulfed in fire when a passing motorist discovered the blaze at 8:15 p.m. When the first truck from West End Fire Co. arrived on the scene firemen were unable to get close enough to fight the blaze.

In addition to the high temperature of the fire, firemen were forced to haul water via tank truck from a nearby stream to the fire.

A second call went out for help when at 9 p.m. Jackson Township Fire Co. was summoned to the scene. They remained at the fire until 1 a.m. yesterday.

YOU NEED CONGRESSMAN WALTER IN WASHINGTON

FELLOW CITIZENS:

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS, BELIEVE THAT IN YOUR OWN INTEREST YOU SHOULD RETURN FRANCIS E. WALTER TO WASHINGTON FOR ANOTHER TERM IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The late Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, said: "A man has to learn to be a Representative just as he must learn to be a blacksmith, a carpenter, a farmer, an engineer, a lawyer, or a doctor."

"It is an unwise performance for a district to change Representatives at short intervals. A new Congressman must begin at the foot of the class."

"The best rule, it seems to me," said the Speaker, "is for a district to select a man with at least fair capacity, industrious, honest, energetic, sober and courageous, and keep him there so long as he discharges his duties faithfully and well. Such a man will gradually rise to high position and influence in the House. His wide acquaintance with members helps him amazingly in doing things."

This is why Congressman Walter is a success, why he will be even more valuable in the future and why his experience is an investment we in the 15th Congressional District must protect.

Perhaps Mr. Walter's greatest contribution to the welfare of his Congressional District has to do with water — that most basic necessity of life. To protect the people and industries of the 15th Congressional District from flood, he fought for Federal funds year in and year out until the Bear Creek Dam and Reservoir was built.

WE REPEAT OUR BELIEF THAT YOU HAVE A MAN REPRESENTING YOU IN CONGRESS WHOM, IN YOUR OWN INTEREST REGARDLESS OF YOUR PARTY AFFILIATION, YOU SHOULD KEEP IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AS LONG AS HE WILL CONSENT TO SERVE. WE SHALL GIVE YOU OTHER REASONS FOR THIS CONVICTION IN A MESSAGE TO BE PUBLISHED SHORTLY. WATCH FOR IT.

Costumers To Start March In Eastburg

Halloween Parade Slated Tonight

THE annual Halloween Parade will be held tonight beginning at the East Stroudsburg High School and terminating at Court House Square on 7th and Monroe Sts., Stroudsburg.

The mayors of the two boroughs will serve as marshalls.

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. All units are urged to be on hand at 6:30 p.m. to be placed in formation. Prizes for the parade have been announced by Howard Coslett, Jayce chairman. Individual awards will be made for best costume, most original or unusual costume, group awards are for the same categories as individuals.

Floors will be awarded first prize for "design closest to theme" and second and third prizes will be awarded for decorations, originality and purpose. Political floats are not eligible for prizes. In the individual and group awards, many additional prizes will be awarded at the discretion of the judges.

Lineup for the parade at starting point is as follows: The color guards and mayors will form on North Courtland Street. The individual and group marchers will gather in the High School Exit on North Courtland Street. Horse units will form behind High School at rear of parking lot. Floats will enter Maple Street and form on right side of Maple facing Courtland.

Cars and motorcycle units will line up on left side of Maple St. facing Courtland. The 40 & 8 Club, Barbershop Chorus, and Hillbillies will form behind cars on Maple Street. Boy Scouts will form at front of High School parking lot.

Following is the order of marching units that will form in the High School entrance beside the auditorium: Stroudsburg High School Band, The Shirlette's, Cub Scout String Band, Lambert Cadets, East Stroudsburg High School Band, and the Keystone Grenadiers.

Halloween Candy will be distributed to the participating children by the Jaycee committee at the start of the parade.

In the event of inclement weather, the parade will be held tomorrow night, the same time prevailing.

Services will continue tomorrow night at the Salvation Army Citadel, S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, with Evangelist Rev. Max DeArmeny from Holsoppe, Pa., the visiting speaker.

Service commences at 7:30 p.m. and includes special music each evening.

Topics to be used by the Evangelist during the week will include "How to be Healthy," "How to be Wealthy," "How to be Wise" and "The Unfinished Book of the New Testament."

Services Continue Tomorrow

EVANGELISTIC Services at the Salvation Army will continue tonight at the Salvation Army Citadel, S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, with Evangelist Rev. Max DeArmeny from Holsoppe, Pa., the visiting speaker.

Service commences at 7:30 p.m. and includes special music each evening.

Topics to be used by the Evangelist during the week will include "How to be Healthy," "How to be Wealthy," "How to be Wise" and "The Unfinished Book of the New Testament."

No service is scheduled tonight due to the annual Halloween parade.

Services will continue tomorrow and conclude on Sunday night, Nov. 4.

Lions Plea For Turnout Of Members

DR. GAIL Fegley, president of the Lions Club of The Stroudsburgs, has issued a special appeal for all members to turn out for the meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel tonight at 6:30.

Six new members will be received into the club as the result of the recent membership drive, and a special program has been arranged for the occasion.

The president urged present members to attend, join in the fellowship, and make the new members welcome.

Yetter Cites Area School Aid

VAN D. Yetter, Jr., Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives, told a group of Hamilton Township Taxpayers last night that State aid to Monroe County schools increased 116.3 percent under the Leader-Lawrence Administrations.

During 1953-1954, State subsidies to Monroe County school districts totaled $710,542 as compared to $1,536,711 distributed to our school districts during 1960-1961," Yetter said.

It is of interest to Monroe County taxpayers that while the statewide increase for local education payments increased 93.2 percent under the Leader Administrations, the boost for Monroe County was 116.3 percent.

It is evident from these official records that Pennsylvania's schools in general and Monroe County in particular have been given the financial support they so richly deserve under the Leader-Lawrence Administrations." Yetter also explained that all Sales and Use Tax revenue is earmarked by law for education.

During the two year period ended May 31, 1961, Monroe County merchants collected a total of $1,932,200 in Sales & Use Taxes, but State subsidies to our local schools totaled $5,865,229 during the identical period," said

Yetter. He pointed out that our county school districts received more than three times as much in subsidies than had been paid in Sales & Use Taxes.

State subsidies are used to pay teachers salaries, costs of transportation, new school construction, vocational education programs, driver education, special classes for the handicapped and numerous other programs.

Pilot Escapes As Plane Crashes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An Air National Guard pilot escaped serious injury Monday in the crash of his jet plane in a field near the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

A Guard spokesman said Brashear had been on a training mission and had just finished a practice approach to the airport. The plane was gaining altitude when the engine went dead, the spokesman said.

Brahear unsuccessfully tried to start the engine again before ejecting himself. The plane dug a deep hole in the ground where it crashed about three miles northwest of the airport in Moon Twp.

Representative In U. S. Congress

(Ed. Note: The Daily Record, with the cooperation of The League of Women Voters of The Stroudsburg, will publish a short biography of the leading candidates in the General Election, together with a short statement of their views on various subjects. The series will be completed within the next several days).

DETAILS OF OFFICE

The House of Representatives is the lower House of the United States Congress. A majority vote by both the House and Senate is necessary to pass a law. Every law concerned with taxation must originate in the House of Representatives.

U. S. Congressman—Term, 2 years—Salary, $22,500

15TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA

DEMOCRAT

Francis E. Walter

Address: 806 Hamilton St., Easton, Pennsylvania.

Age: 68

Education: B.A.—George Washington University, L.L.B.—Georgetown University.

Occupation: U.S. Representative in Congress, Lawyer, Banker.

Training and experience: Thirty years as Representative of the 15th Congressional District, Pennsylvania.

Candidate's Stand on Issues

1. What course of action should the United States pursue to improve trade with other nations?

Answer: I am convinced that the foreign trade program submitted to the Congress by President Kennedy and enacted by the Eighty-seventh Congress represents the most practical approach to the improvement of our trade with other nations. I am determined to survey very carefully the implementation of the new law so that specific interests of the working man and business located in Pennsylvania are not hurt.

2. Do you favor financial assistance to the nations of Asia, Africa, and Latin America? If so, on what basis should that aid be extended?

Answer: I am in favor of financial assistance to the developing nations, but I believe that a much greater care should be exercised by the United States in supervising the ways in which our assistance is utilized by the foreign nations. So far the supervision has not been satisfactory and much of what we furnished to the needy people was wasted.

3. What federal legislation, if any, should be enacted to promote the planning and development of our growing water needs?

Answer: The legislation I sponsored for the development of the Delaware River Basin should very well serve as a model and a pattern for the development of the growing water needs of our people. In the event that neighboring States enter into compacts in order to pool their resources in the development of basins of other rivers, I am prepared to assist vigorously in the enactment of legislation which will come before the Committee on the Judiciary of which I am the ranking Democratic member.

4. In your opinion do the states need more help from the federal government to finance education adequately? If so, what form should this assistance take?

ANSWER: The States do need more assistance from the Federal Government to finance higher education on the basis of loans for the young people who really need it. Outright grants to school districts in Federally impacted areas. Long term, low interest loans for secondary school expansion. Scholarships for exceptional students in fields of greatest need.

5. What responsibility, if any, do you think the federal government has for meeting the health needs of our older citizens?

Answer: President Kennedy's legislative program for the financing of medical care for the elderly people under social security should be enacted.

6. What national government problem interests you most? Please explain.

Answer: The principal problem before us is to realize the danger of Soviet imperialism which has the international Communist conspiracy working for the achievement of the Kremlin's basic goal of world domination. We must strengthen our defense establishment, vigorously enforce laws providing for internal security, and continue to make every effort to provide for greater cohesion of our alliances with the free peoples of the world.

Woman's Body Found In Box

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Homicide detectives were searching yesterday for the person who stored in a Southside Pittsburgh warehouse a box containing a woman's body.

A warehouse employee discovered the body Saturday after he detected an odor coming from the cardboard box.

Detectives said a post-mortem revealed the woman died from a fractured skull. They said the box had been in storage since 1967, and the body was wrapped in a 1964 Pittsburgh newspaper.

The worker, Alfred Santelli, and his boss, Stephen Olexen, part-owner of the Tri-State Moving Co., opened the box. They discovered a tin box inside the cardboard box, then another cardboard box and finally a metal box which was soldered along its seams.

A nylon stocking was found with the body, which was badly decomposed.

Former Physical Expert Dies

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Alvin L. Rimmer, 57, of Kingston, retired physical education director of the Wilkes-Barre school district, died yesterday in general Hospital. He was football coach at Coughlin High School here for a number of years, and at the time of his death was secretary of the Wyoming Valley Football Conference.

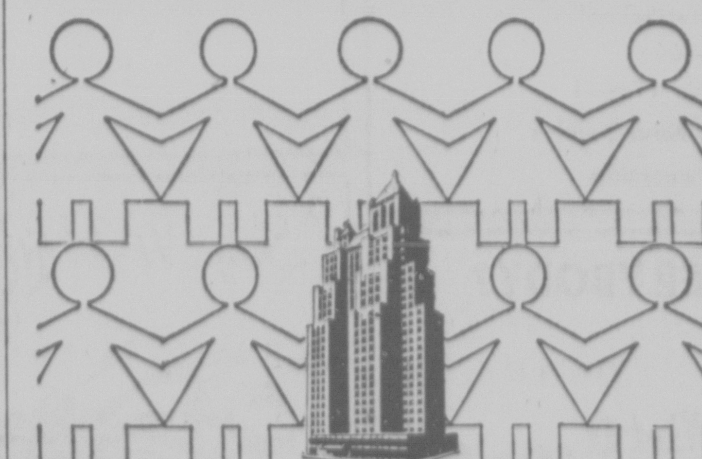

ment has for meeting the health needs of our older citizens?

Answer: Our nation, more than any other, can be proud of its record of seeing that most of its needy people receive assistance both through private and government mental funds. I will support valid legislation that will see to the health needs of our Senior Citizens.

6. What national government problem interests you most? Please explain.

Answer: Unemployment and Foreign Aid. Without industry there are no jobs. . . without jobs there are no paychecks. . . without paychecks there is no purchasing power. Our economy is stagnant, yet we continue to place billions of dollars in government contracts with foreign nations that are economically strong. We should remember that, to stay strong, we must build our own industry and strive for full employment which automatically cuts government welfare costs and increases tax revenue.

Standard Of Living Up Locally

Special to the Record
NEW YORK — Residents of Stroudsburg are using electricity to a greater extent than ever before, indicating a rising standard of living locally.

The two go hand-in-hand, according to the economists, who regard the per capita use of electricity as one of the best indexes of a community's standard of living.

The facts and figures on consumption and on rates are contained in reports made by the Federal Power Commission and by the Edison Electric Institute.

How much do Stroudsburg residents have to pay for the current they use in their homes? Are their bills higher or lower than elsewhere?

A basis of comparison is provided by the FPC, which presents typical electric bills in effect in 5,949 cities, as of January 1, 1962. They vary widely, in accordance with local production costs.

In Stroudsburg, it shows, the cost of 100 kilowatt hours, which is an amount sufficient for small lighting and appliance needs, was $4.90 per month for the majority of consumers, who are served by Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. Those getting service from the Metropolitan Edison Co. paid $3.80.

Among the other cities, that quantity cost $4.06 a month.

For 250 kilowatt hours, which covers lighting, cooking, refrigeration and small appliances, the majority of local residents paid $8.40 and the others $6.80 per month.

Turnpike Crash Kills Woman

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A collision of a car and truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike has killed an Alabama woman and injured her husband and four children.

Mrs. Cora Mae Horton, 39, of Satsuma, Ala., was killed in the wreck yesterday about three miles west of the Beaver Valley interchange.

Hospitalized were her husband, Jesse, 45, an Air Force sergeant and their children, Mary, 4; Rose, 16; Alvin, 10, and Jesse Jr., 12.

Police said a car driven by the father crashed against the rear of a truck. The truck driver was not hurt.

munities was $7.48.

For the households in Stroudsburg that consumed 500 kilowatt hours a month, the bills amounted to $10.95 for most users and $9.40 for the others. In the rest of the United States they averaged $10.66.

The nation's demand for electric power has been increasing at a rapid rate, reports the FPC. In more and more homes, appliances that were once considered luxury items are now standard equipment.

New uses for electricity, it says, will require additions to our production capacity. Among these new developments are the electric heating of driveways, sidewalks and streets for snow removal, the air conditioning of sidewalk passageways between buildings at shopping centers and the recharging of high-capacity batteries for electric automobiles.

As for residential consumption in Stroudsburg's regional area, the figures show that the average family used a total of 3,589 kilowatt hours last year, compared with 3,154 three years before.

Peter L. Dye
National Commander

1425 E. McMillan Street, Cincinnati 6, Ohio

October 15, 1962

Hon. Francis E. Walter
House Office Building
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Walters:

The Disabled American Veterans wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation and thanks for your support of the legislative objectives of this Organization. Passage of the cost of living increase for two million service-connected disabled veterans, and continuance of the program which will assure adequate hospital care and outpatient treatment for the war disabled, sincerely appreciated.

I wish to extend my personal gratitude and the thanks of the 210 thousand members of this Organization, for your personal support of this Nation's program affecting the service-connected wartime disabled veterans.

Sincerely yours,
PETER L. DYE
NATIONAL COMMANDER

The above letter is typical of the many received by Congressman Walter from Veterans' Groups.

Congressman Francis E. Walter, who has served in BOTH World Wars, clearly recognizes the obligation of a grateful country in caring for her deserving veterans. He has consistently supported legislation designed to provide for our wounded and disabled as well as the widows and orphans of our servicemen who made the supreme sacrifice. His counsel and support of veterans' problems brought to his attention have been acknowledged by hundreds of veterans in the 15th District.

Also, our Congressman has been cited by ALL the veterans' groups . . . American Legion, Veterans Of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Disabled Veterans and others . . . for his work as chairman of Un-American Activities Committee and other Congressional work.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Odd as it may seem, the less a newspaperman knows about a story, the easier it is to write. When there is an embarrassment of riches, he is apt to fall into one of two traps: knowing all about a subject he may assume that the readers do too and tell too little; or being personally interested in a story, he may become stilted and self-conscious.

Take for instance, the biographies of people who have reached their 90th birthday or above. For me, at least, they are usually a joy to write — particularly about people I've never met before. Knowing only what they or their families tell me, judging only by the impressions of an hour, I blithely start typing and the stories write themselves.

But when it comes to writing up my own father's 90th birthday, I suffer. It becomes painfully evident that it is impossible to transfer a living personality to paper, that no matter what you write you have left the important things unsaid.

How do you make it clear, for instance, that here is a man who not only believes what he says but practices what he preaches? Believing that you learn by doing, and that work is the best teacher, we all had the chance to do everything from tending gas pumps to keeping books to driving sheep out to summer pastures, tractors at the farm, trailer-trucks from mid-Western factories.

With seven girls, that wasn't easy; but evaluating the experience now we realize that there isn't anything we'd be afraid to tackle. We might not do it well, but we could do it, primarily because no matter what our age or sex he always considered us capable and responsible people.

It was even easier for us to see it as the second generation came along as the grandsons, one by one, somehow became adults in the one week they spent with him at hunting camp. We've helped pry mired cars out of knee deep mud with the rails and stones from fences, we've been bitten by rams, and been lost in the woods but always secure in the knowledge that there's a way to solve any problem.

Except the problem of how to explain such a man to a world which seems to be waiting for somebody else to do whatever has to be done, or expressing genuine emotion without the clichés which make it seem sentimental. I'd do better with international affairs.

Dinner Honors A. M. Price, Still A Pioneer At 90

When Arthur Mahlon Price, East Stroudsburg, was called on for his recipe for longevity at the surprise family party celebrating his 90th birthday, he said "Mind your wife."

It was a graceful tribute to his wife, Dr. Nina Mae Price, who was giving the dinner at the Penn-Stroud in his honor, and sincerely meant but it was greeted with a wave of laughter from the 30 members of the family present to whom A. M. is not noted for "minding" anyone except the dictates of his own conscience.

Prototype of the type of person for whom the term "rugged individualist" was coined, he has been self-supporting since he went to work at the age of 14. He has turned his hand to many trades: railway, telegraphy, school teaching, clerking, storekeeper, and pioneer automobile dealer, since the days of the Model T.

With it all, he has kept close to the land. An ardent, and successful, hunter and fisherman he and his brothers for more than 50 years got their limit of deer every year at their camp "Dippy Dell" in Pike Co.

A. M. Price, the second of six children, five sons and a daughter, was born Oct. 23, 1872 to Townsend and Catherine (Mick) Price at Spruce Mountain House, Canadensis. Both his father and his grandfather, Charles "Big Charlie" Price served as County Commissioners of Monroe County. Big Charlie was the son of Benjamin, who was the son of John Price who settled on the banks of the Broadhead in 1764 on the original "Purgatory Manor" grant from William Penn. Price Twp. was named for the family.

Coming from a family of ardent woodsmen, A. M. recalls shooting his first grouse at the age of 9 and his first wildcat at the age of 12, although his first deer was shot when he was a grown man since during his childhood the deer were very scarce in the Barrett area.

After clerking in the general store in Cresco, and working as baggage clerk for the railroad at Delaware, N. J., where he also studied telegraphy, he attended Fairview Academy in the West End of the county and taught school, first in the Barrett school and then in the Mountainhome school where he taught 84 ungraded pupils, and was the highest paid teacher in the township.

It was during this period that he turned to the buying and selling which he has continued with en-

Mrs. Renfro is the former Lucille Robinson. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph U. Renfro of Stroudsburg.

Brenda Lee Decker — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Decker of East Stroudsburg RD 2 announce the birth of a daughter, Brenda Lee, on Oct. 25 at the General Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds 12 ounces and has a sister, Diana Caprice, 4½ years old.

Mrs. Decker is the former Gertrude Safin. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Decker, 213 King St., East Stroudsburg.

Helen Marie Shoemaker — Their second daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shoemaker of Mount Bethel RD 1 on Oct. 24 at the General Hospital. She weighed 6 pounds and has been named Helen Marie. Her sister, Kay Lynn, is 14 months old.

Mrs. Shoemaker is the former Patricia Romanish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Romanish of Bangor RD 3. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shoemaker of Mount Bethel, RD 1.

DeHavens Feted On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd DeHaven, Sr., of Scotrun, were the guests of honor at a dinner party for the immediate families celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary on Friday. The party was held at Brookdale-on-the-Lake.

All but one of their children were present. They were presented with a centerpiece and a hand-embroidered tablecloth from the children.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. John DeHaven, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jackson DeHaven, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Val Robbins. Absent were Mr. and Mrs. James Riley of Lancaster.

Mrs. Scranton To Be Guest At Council Tea

The Monroe County Council of Republican Women will entertain at a tea for Mary Scranton, wife of the Republican Candidate for Governor, on Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. in the ballroom of the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Mrs. Scranton was unable to attend the recent luncheon for William Scranton during his campaign swing through the county, and the tea was planned to give local people the chance to know her better. The tea is open to all.

Mrs. Helen Hansen will be in charge of tea table arrangements. Memes wishing to help or contribute may call her at 421-8122.

Group To Launch French Conversation

A French Conversation Group is being organized by the Pocono Art Center for interested persons in the community. Mrs. Edward G. Kenney will lead the group.

Anyone interested in taking part in the venture is invited to a tea to be served at the Old Stone House, Braeside and Brown Sts., East Stroudsburg on Sunday, Nov. 4 at 3 p.m. Only French will be spoken.

The Graphics Show, also sponsored by the Art Center, is still on exhibition at the center's gallery, 586 Main St., Stroudsburg, open to the public between 3 and 5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Historical Museum Open This Afternoon

The Monroe County Historical Society Museum in the Stroud Community House, Ninth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg, will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. today.

The Historical Society recently received a picture showing their founder Dr. Mary Erdman upon her graduation in 1892 from what was then Blockley Institute, now Philadelphia General Hospital. Dr. Erdman, then Mary Greenwood, was one of two women in the class of men. She was president of the local historical society from 1922 to 1938.

Also on exhibit are two Civil War letters from local men: A letter in 1861 from William D. Walton then serving with Capt. Keller's company; and 1865 from Adonijah B. Drake to his wife, Mary.

Librarian Student To Address ULCM

Henry G. Kwakwe from Zor-Zor, Liberia, will address the Brotherhood of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Kwakwe is presently doing graduate work in English on the local campus and is in America on a Lutheran scholarship.

Ray Mery, Brotherhood president, is anxious that all men of the church take advantage of the opportunity to hear Mr. Kwakwe's message. Refreshments will be served.

Nurse From Italy Bride Of Robert J. Roberts Here

A romance which began in France, brought an Italian girl to this country to become the bride of Robert J. Roberts, East Stroudsburg, in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Oct. 14.

The bride is the former Eleonora Redi, daughter of the late Andrea and Clementine Redi of Caserta, Italy.

She and Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Roberts, of 335 Monroe St., East Stroudsburg, met in France when he was serving there with the U. S. Army in 1960.

She arrived in this country on Sept. 10. She was given in marriage by her uncle Jerry Cresitelli, of New York City.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the ceremony. Organist was Robert Currier. The altar was decorated with white and varicolored mums and lighted candelabra.

The bride wore a dress of Chantilly scalloped lace over satin taffeta with sleeves tapering to points at the wrist. The skirt ended in a chapel train.

A fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught with a crown of pearl beads. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily with a center corsage of roses. Her gown like those of her attendants had been made by the bridegroom's mother.

Serving as matron of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Shirley Shoemaker, of Mount Bethel. Bridesmaids were Jane Roberts, niece of the bridegroom, of Hathor; and Connie Fox, of 345 Monroe St., East Stroudsburg.

They all wore ballerina length gowns of pink lace over taffeta and carried colonial bouquets of pink mums.

Wallace Shoemaker, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Raymond Roberts, nephew of the bridegroom, and Jack Fox, East Stroudsburg.

The bride's aunt wore a dress of old rose satin with black accessories and a corsage of white and lavender flowers. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose beige lace with tan accessories and also carried a corsage of white and lavender mums.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the Stroud Twp. Municipal Bldg., North Fifth St., Stroudsburg. The hall was decorated in white with white wedding bells. A four-tier wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. There were out-of-town guests from New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Detroit, Mich. Leaving for their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Michigan, the bride wore a black and red suit with red accessories and a corsage of white roses.

They are now making their home at 335 Monroe St., East Stroudsburg. A graduate of Averse, Caserta, Italy and S. Maddalena Hospital, the bride is a nurse by profession. Mr. Roberts is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School and is employed at Hughes Printing Co.

Women's Guild Meets At Halstead's

Tannersville — A silent prayer for the peace of the world opened the meeting of the Tannersville Grace United Church of Christ Women's Guild at the home of Mrs. Helen Halstead recently. There were 23 members and 4 guests present.

Naomi Learn led a brief meditation with Scriptures read by Dorothy Kresge and prayer by Dorothy Kresge.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Cora Smith. Reports on the workshop meeting at Zion Church, Stroudsburg, were given and plans were made to attend World Community Day on Nov. 3 when the Guild will turn in to the United Church Women's project the 16 sewing kits they have made.

A donation was voted for the building fund account.

During the social hour members with birthdays from July to December were honored by those with birthdays from January to June. Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Emilie Husted. Prizewinners were Mabel Kresge and Jeanne Howell with Eloda Gerhard.

Refreshments were served to the following honored guests: Graham Bryson, Alta Metzgar, Lois Cays, Cora Smith, Lucy Anglemire, Jeanne Howell, Gloria Hawk, Dorothy Kresge, Lillian Hay, Katrina Kresge, Faye Gottier, Margaret Smith, Eloda Gerhard, Margaret Tallada, and Mabel Kresge.

Hostesses were Emilie Husted, Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Meissner, Lorraine Anglemire, Edith Gurr, Helen Starnier, Ethel Kresge, Gail Hawk, Naomi Learn, Alverna and Evelyn Kresge, Doris Thomas and Alice Teada.

The Nov. 27 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emilie Husted with roll call answered with a Thanksgiving sentence and a stamped Christmas card.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, October 30
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Follow up inspired ideas with creative accomplishments. This you can do now since a fine future prospect stimulates incentive.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Review finances, domestic relations, children's needs. Aim for special achievements rather than accomplishment by volume. Some fine opportunities through artistry, hard work.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Use all sensible precautions in running machines, vehicles, service equipment; processing important data, in travel. Avoid heat, anxiety.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Be careful not to misinterpret others' meanings or be misunderstood yourself. Put common sense before comfort. Enjoy today's things TODAY. Shun life, hot words.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Better than average planetary aspects. Aim for success in a normal, not excited manner, avoiding fussiness, haste, fussiness will prove painful.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — With surety and know-how, don't let down guard in manufacturing, distributing, consulting, aeronautics, mechanics generally. Emphasize TACT.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Don't fret over what you have to do but tackle duties and other plans with love and the most time-wasting and acutia. For the effort, some excellent results in store.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — It may take longer to get things rolling than anticipated, but keep at it; soon the ball will be carrying itself. Be prepared to transact some profitable business.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Efficiency does not necessitate abruptness nor over-aggressiveness. But do eliminate reluctance, dillying, needless circuitous routes in carrying out day's program.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Be a headstrong power and a quick returner of goods on loan. You can excel at making the other fellow feel good. A very desirable quality now. Maintain composure.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Toward the end of the day be careful that you do not become careless of loss. Interest. Some of your better returns are indicated in the M.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — There are tendencies toward extravagance, fantasy and excesses now. Avoid them. In meetings, in making agreements, know the facts, get your information from correct sources. Withdraw quickly from what you feel is undesirable.

YOU BORN TODAY are under normal circumstances, lively, a giver, wishing to please and accomplish in first-rate fashion. Your mind seeks learning and investigation beyond the ordinary. Many scientists, architects, inventors and adventurers were born in this season, causing fatigue, losing sleep for your bright prospects. Your versatility and musical talents are in demand. Birthdays: John Adams, 2nd U.S. President; Richard B. Sheridan, Irish statesman, dramatist.

Royals Down Cards, 20-6

BANGOR — The hard-running backs of Pius X's Richard Fusako, Dean Dapkevich and Steve Zegalia proved to much last night for Coach Allen Shollenberger's Pocono Mountain Cardinals who went down to a 20-6 defeat in their first varsity game ever.

Not only did the Cards get their first taste of varsity competition in this contest, but it also was the first time the team played under the lights.

To get adjusted to the environment, Shollenberger last week had his charges work out under the lights one night at Memorial Stadium in East Stroudsburg.

Defensive Battle

But the Royals of Pius X, who had won but one contest previously, proved to have too much experience for the game lads from the mountain who stumbled in the first half. The first two periods, in fact, was a fine exhibition of defensive prowess on both sides as neither team was able to generate any kind of a scoring threat.

But experience for the Royals — and inexperience for the Cards — began to tell early in the third stanza.

A Pocono Mountain fumble was pounced on by Tom Sapone of Pius X on the Cardinal 34 to set up the first TD of the game. Fusako, Steve Zegalia and John Ricciardi combined on four running plays to take the ball down to the Pocono Mountain four-yard line, and Dapkevich lugged the leather across the goal line from there on an off-balance smash.

A bad pass from center on a punting situation allowed the Royals to once again take advantage of another scoring opportunity, as they gained possession on the Card 24. Again, it was another five-play march into pay dirt with Dapkevich, Zegalia and Fusako handling all the running chores. Dapkevich crashed over from the two for his second tally of the evening.

On the following kickoff, John Ricciardi intercepted a Cardinal pass thrown by Quarterback Alan Young to give the Royals possession on the Pocono Mountain 26. In six plays, Pius X had another TD as the same trio of Dapkevich, Zegalia and Fusako repeatedly kept churning up yardage on the ground until Fusako heaved a scoring aerial to Ricciardi from the five-yard line.

As Pius X subs kept coming into the game, Pocono Mountain took over on their own 41 following the kickoff, and on the first play from scrimmage, Young threw a nifty pass to Bill Coffman in a play which covered 50 yards and accounted for the Cards' first touchdown in varsity competition.

E-burg Ladies Bowl Tonight

Added Attraction

Silverman added that the postponement enabled him to offer an added attraction—the closed circuit television of the Cassius Clay-Archie Moore heavyweight bout in Los Angeles.

Silverman says present plans call for Pender-Torres to go on about 9 p.m., EST, followed by the telecast at 10:30 p.m.

Pender and Torres had hoped to share in a live gate of about $80,000. Silverman figures with the addition of the telecast that figure may jump to $100,000.

Pender, no better than an even choice against this heavier hitting rival, expressed disappointment at the delay from his North Palmouth, Mass., training camp. Pender's chief concern is that he is down very fine and must now try to sustain the sharpness and steady weight.

No Cousins Here

MELVERN, Kan. (AP) — It appeared the Melvern American Legion baseball team had everything going for it in a game with Waverly.

Ray Shaffer manages the Melvern team. One of his sons, Leonard, was second base umpire; another son, Ronald, was plate umpire; Shaffer's wife, Leona, kept score; and his nephew, Jack Herring, played on the Melvern team.

But Waverly won 9-1.

BARRY WEISS of Bartonville, who is currently attending the Judson School of Scottsdale, Ariz., is being touted for all-state honors there as a guard. The 5-8, 180-pound junior is only 15 years old. He attended Stroud Union High School last year but transferred to Arizona because of a bronchial condition.

Gregory: Every Week 'Tougher'

"It's getting tougher every week."

These were the words of East Stroudsburg State College Coach Jack Gregory last night, commenting on his team's latest victory — a 19-6 triumph over Millersville Saturday — as the Warriors continued their winning ways toward an undefeated and untied season.

The Warriors, in fact, are not only the one team in the 14-team Pennsylvania State Colleges Athletic Conference with an unblemished record, but also only one of two collegiate clubs in the state who thus far remain untarnished. The other Pennsylvanians, with no losses or ties is Susquehanna.

Slippery Rock in the Western division of the PSCAC suffered its first defeat of the year against Indiana, although the Rockets maintained their divisional lead by the slimmest of margins with 212 rating points, compared to 200 for both California and Indiana.

all the glory for himself, emphasized last night the "fine jobs" turned in by his assistants, Gary Sederberg, Charley Reese and Clyde Whitman.

"Those fellows," said the head coach, "helped us to adjust to Millersville's various formations and alignments which they were using for the first time this year against us."

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 88, ran a three-horse entry in the Astoria Stakes at Aqueduct. They ran second, third and fourth behind Affectionately.

East Stroudsburg, meanwhile, continues to hold onto its top perch in the Eastern section with 200 points. West Chester is second with 200 points.

Gregory had nothing but praise for his defensive unit in the Millersville contest. "They did a tremendous job," he said, while singling out back-ups Joe Hoeverin and Joe Bahmatia whom he added, "did everything but make Millersville eat the football."

Offensively, Gregory commended the fine running of Toby Barkman and Bill Lewis.

Barkman, a strong candidate for Little All-America honors, carried the ball 23 times for 144 yards, a sparkling average of 6.3 per carry. Lewis meanwhile, who had a dismal time of it passing, contributed to 100 yards of the Warriors rushing total.

"Our boys really had a tremendous job, all in all," said Gregory, noting that Millersville was "really sky-high for this game."

The victory for the ESSC eleven was their 11th straight since their defeat at the hands of West Chester last year, and 18th of the last 20 games.

Small Size, But Big Hit With Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Not many people thought Pat Fisher could play professional football, including Pat. At 5-10, 170 pounds, he would have to go up against players a half foot taller and 50 pounds heavier.

But the former Nebraska University star is in the starting defensive lineup for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I didn't think I could make it when the Cardinals drafted me," says 22-year-old Pat. "but I thought I'd come out and give it a try. After I got to camp, I decided I'd like to stay."

"Sure, they had guys almost twice my size coming at me. Because of my size, I've learned to play football by rolling with the punch. All little guys have to or they don't make it."

The Cardinals were not sure about Pat's chances although he was all-Big Eight in his junior year at Nebraska. The Cardinals did not draft him until the 17th round in 1961.

Elect Price President Of Gun Club

JAMES Price is the new president of the Pocono - Paradise Gun Club. His election came at the annual meeting of the club in the Tannersville Firehouse.

It was reported at the meeting that a frolic will be held in November to husk an acre of corn for deer feed. Hay for the deer already has been received. The club has several food plots for both large and small game.

Club land will be patrolled and all members were urged to turn in violators.

A prize will be given to the member shooting the deer with largest rack.

The club also donated $5 to the Monroe County Game Protectors to help finance their field communication system.

A film on marksmanship also was shown at the meeting by John Doebeling.

Rickey Rejoins Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Branch Rickey rejoined the St. Louis Cardinals Monday after a separation of 20 years and announced it would take a miracle for the Cards to win the pennant next year.

The bushy-browed, 80-year-old Rickey sat in his Busch Stadium office and said his new job was the production and development of players. Near him sat the big names in the Card organization—President August A. Busch Jr., General Manager Bing Devine, and Executive Vice President Dick Meyer.

"Can't Be Traded"

"This club can't be traded into a pennant," Rickey said. "There aren't that many players around for trade. The players have got to be developed."

When told that a new baseball stadium is scheduled for completion in St. Louis in 1964, Rickey said, "It would be a great thing if the team could be a contender by then."

"I'm anxious for the team to win a pennant," he added, and 1965 seems to be a "rational objective for a pennant."

Rickey, who said he looks upon St. Louis as home, said he was happy to return to the Cardinals, for whom he worked as field manager, business manager and vice president from 1917 until 1942.

Two of Rickey's most noteworthy contributions to baseball were the development of the farm system and the bringing of Negroes into the major leagues.

Against Bonuses

With a heavy wooden cane resting near one hand, and a big cigar held in his other, Rickey spoke strongly against the payment of bonuses to young players.

And he predicted the eventual formation of a third major league. The Mahatma, as he was known with the Brooklyn Dodgers, spent 26 years with the Cardinals and helped develop players who won nine pennants and six world championships between 1926 and 1946. Then he went to Brooklyn, where his teams won two pennants in eight years.

Rickey left the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1955 and recently was president of the Continental League, a proposed third major circuit. The league never made it—but it forced the two major leagues to expand from eight clubs to ten.

On All-East Team

NEW YORK (AP)—End Dave Robinson and halfback Roger Kocman, both of Penn State, and fullback Richard Leeson of Pittsburgh were named to the weekly All-East college football team chosen Monday by the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

WORLD'S Heavyweight Champion John L. Sullivan's biggest purse was $14,000 earned for fighting Herbert Sizer in 1883. He received only $10,500 for his victory over Jake Kilrain in his best known fight.

WHEN the Cleveland Browns opened summer football practice, seven members of former Ohio State teams turned out.

Rollins Named Soph-Of-Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Rich Rollins, the young third baseman whose unexpected power hitting helped the Minnesota Twins finish second in the American League race, was named the circuit's sophomore-of-the-year Monday in the annual Associated Press poll.

Rollins collected 49 votes in the balloting by members of the Baseball Writers' Association. Outfielder Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox was next with 34, followed by outfielders Chuck Hinton of Washington and Carl Yaszkowski, Boston, 7 each; Leroy Thomas of Los Angeles, another outfielder, 6, and pitcher Claude Osteen, Washington, 3. A total of 106 writers participated in the voting.

Fourth In Batting

Hinton wound up fourth in the batting competition with .310. He also produced 17 homers, 75 RBI and stole 28 bases. In 1961 the fleet outfielder batted .260 in 106 games, hit 6 homers and collected 34 RBI.

Yaszkowski, a highly-touted rookie in '61, had a .296 average the past season. He batted only .266 the previous year. Thomas finished at .290 with 26 homers and 104 RBI. Osteen posted an 8-13 record with two shutouts and a 3.66 earned run average for the last-place Senators.

Area Lakes Are Being Stocked

MORE than 2,000 brook trout have been stocked in Deep Lake, located in the area of Big Pocono, it was announced last night by James W. Hazen, district fish warden.

Hazen also announced that big-mouthed bass have been stocked recently in Tobyhanna Lake No. 2 and in Brady's Lake.

Forster Devoted Life To Sports

By Mr. Pigskin

THE area lost a dedicated individual to schoolboy sports when Richard Forster died while guiding his Bangor High eleven against Nazareth on the Blue Eagles gridiron Saturday afternoon.

It was our good fortune to know Dick for a period of 10 years. During that span he was an assistant football and head basketball coach at East Stroudsburg High, head coach of football and basketball at Lansford High and head football mentor at Bangor.

The Pocono Mountains sports gentry knew Dick well. They knew he got the best out of the material at hand. They knew he gave more than his share of time to the vocation he loved so much.

Dick Forster actually gave his life to fostering good schoolboy athletics in the Poconos, Panther Valley and Slate Belt. By all the cards that faced the young (41 years old) native of New Jersey, he could have hung up his cleats and sneakers a few years ago. But he preferred to travel over the bumpy health road he was destined.

There would be only one way for Dick to bow out. That was to be coached, tutoring and lending his team on the gridiron. Dick knew no other way.

His success as a coach and teacher drew the admiration of Lehigh Valley's often critical ranks. The press and radio fields considered him one of the finest to interview and get an honest opinion.

Dick was frank and expected others to call a spade a spade too. Perhaps that is why he was one of the most liked men in his trade.

Dick Forster passed away much too soon. And well the followers of Lehigh Valley scholastic athletics know as they sing the praises of a dedicated man who gave his life teaching youth the hard, cold facts of life.

Northwestern, a Big Ten powerhouse which has averaged better than 30 points a game in sweeping past five tough opponents, forged into a solid first place Tuesday in the national college football rankings.

The Wildcats from Evanston, Ill., who handed Notre Dame a crushing 35-6 defeat last Saturday, took a resounding lead over their chief rivals, Alabama and Southern California, in the weekly poll by The Associated Press.

Texas Drops

Texas, No. 1 for the past two weeks, dropped to fifth after being held to a 14-14 tie by Rice.

Alabama, the defending national champion, clung to second place on the strength of a 35-6 triumph over Tulsa while Southern California, unbeaten pride of the Pacific Coast, moved up a notch to the No. 3 position after thumping Illinois 28-16. Once-tied Louisiana State was fourth and Texas fifth.

Rounding out the top ten were Mississippi, No. 6; Michigan State, No. 7; Arkansas, No. 8; Washington, No. 9; and Auburn, No. 10.

Auburn, with a 5-0 record, is the only newcomer in the list, which underwent a mild revision in order. The Plainsmen replaced Wisconsin, which dropped out after suffering its first loss — a 14-7 defeat at the hands of Ohio State.

34 Of 52

Northwestern received 34 of the 52 first place votes from the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters while 15 went to the Crimson Tide, Southern Cal, Mississippi and Michigan State got one each.

On the basis of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., Northwestern racked up 474 points compared with 445 for Alabama and 351 for Southern Cal.

L.S.U. climbed from sixth to fourth on a 23-0 victory over Florida while Mississippi, 35-0 victor over Vanderbilt, jumped up a notch from seventh a week ago. L.S.U. and Ole Miss clash next Saturday night in Baton Rouge.

NSU Gains

Michigan State rose three places from 10th because of its impressive 26-8 triumph over Indiana. Arkansas, which thumped Hardin-Simmons 49-7, gained one rung, leaping ahead of Washington, which was tied by Oregon 21-21. Auburn edged Clemson 17-14.

Another game involving top ten members this week sends Washington against Southern California at Los Angeles.

THE TOP TEN

	W	L	T	Pts.
1. Northwestern (34)	5	0	0	494
2. Alabama (15)	6	0	0	443
3. Southern Cal. (1)	5	0	0	351
4. Louisiana State	5	0	1	304
5. Texas	5	0	1	281
6. Mississippi (1)	5	0	0	270
7. Michigan St. (1)	4	1	0	174
8. Arkansas	5	1	0	126
9. Washington	4	0	2	54
10. Auburn	5	0	0	50

Others receiving votes: Wisconsin, Nebraska, Ohio State, Purdue, Penn State, Missouri, Duke, Oregon, Army, Dartmouth, Miami (Fla.), West Virginia, Georgia Tech.

Myers Tops W.U. Frosh In Rushing

WICHITA, Kans. — Harold Myers, former All-America High School football player at East Stroudsburg High School, picked up 32 yards on 6 carries in the Wichita University freshmen's 36-6 victory over Arkansas City, Kan. Junior College to lead the frosh ball carriers after the first five games of the season.

Myers, a 5-11, 192 pound halfback, averaged 8.7 yards per carry, scored two touchdowns and caught one pass for 17 yards. He also returned a kickoff for 26 yards. A four-year letterman in the grid sport while in high school, he played in the All-America High School prep game in Dallas last year, made his All-League team and played in the Pennsylvania Big 33 game. His home is in Bushkill.

Turley Sent To Angels

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Turley, the majors' outstanding pitcher four years ago, was shipped to the Los Angeles Angels by the world champion New York Yankees Monday.

The deal was conditional. General Manager Roy Hamey of the Yankees said that the Angels will give the Yankees a mutually satisfactory player by opening day, 1963, if Turley is retained by Los Angeles. The veteran right-hander developed bone chips early in the 1961 campaign and has worked infrequently since then. He underwent elbow surgery last fall.

Turley, who pitched only one complete game in the past two seasons, had a 3-3 record in 1962. He also won three games in 1961.

He is currently player-manager of the San Juan club in the Puerto Rican Winter League. In his most recent effort, Turley was shelved from the mound in the third inning as Santore defeated San Juan 6-1 Sunday night.

Turley was the ace of the Yankee pitching staff in 1958 when he won 21 games and was named winner of the Cy Young Award, the best pitcher in the big leagues. He also paced the club's World Series triumph that year, winning two games and saving another in relief as New York edged the Milwaukee Braves, four games to three.

In 10 big league campaigns, Turley has won 98 games and lost 74. He is a native of East St. Louis, Ill. and lives in Lutherville, Md., just outside of Baltimore.

Crowe's had a total of 70 strikes scored in their three games with Okay Stuckey and Russ Bergman both hitting their first six hundreds of the year in the league.

Next week finds Crowe's on the road again as they travel to Bethlehem to face Banko's, always a strong contender.

Crowe's Wins DVL Contest

Crowe's opened their first game with a barrage of strikes and went on to win the first and second games in the Delaware Valley League, Saturday night at Colonial Lanes.

The visiting Sullivan's from Easton had a fine match of their own, spearheaded by Mike Mamrick with a 215-228-633 total. And with three games in the 900's, came up with a big 2805 match.

Harvey W. Huffman Beautifies Local Basement

Pictured above is a before-and-after treatment of a basement converted by Harvey W. Huffman, Contractor - Builder, of Marshalls Creek. Top-left is the basement before remodeling. Top-right shows pole converted to modern winding stairs (saves space and makes use of a normal basement eye-sore); tile powder room was created for necessity, and to break the monotony of a long basement. Lower pictures show rich cherry paneling and use of Early American decor. Lower left is an "antiqued" brick fireplace and built-in scalloped "Hutch" cupboard walls where owners display collection of Early American glass and china. Lower-right photo shows sliding patio doors, and extension of cherry wall with more antiques, including old "hurricane" lamp. Above patio doors is additional display area with hidden ceiling lights which are reflected in the white ceiling creating an atmosphere of restful charm. Huffman stated that "many people locally are not aware of the charm lying dormant in their unfinished attic, basement or spare room." He further added that "new FHA or bank loans for improvement are now easily attained and budgeted when necessary to as low as $5.00 per week in payments." Huffman, a well-known builder-contractor has his own development of Birch Acres at Craig's Meadow near Marshalls Creek. He is also a Member of the Master Builders and Contractors Association of Monroe County and has designed and built many homes and buildings in the Poconos for the past 23 years.

The Daily Investor

Terms Can Vary

By William A. Doyle

Q. I am puzzled about the "conversion terms" of convertible debentures. I own a $1,000 par value convertible debenture of a rather big company. This debenture is convertible into common stock of the same company, "at $24 a share." I am told that I can turn in my $1,000 debenture and receive 42 shares of stock.

But 1,000 divided by 24 equals 41 and a fraction. How would I get 42 shares of the stock?

A. Probably by turning in your $1,000 debenture, plus $8 in cash. It should be explained that conversion terms can vary a great deal — from one company to another and even from one issue to another, when a company has more than one issue of convertible securities outstanding.

The exact conversion terms of a convertible debt security are spelled out in the "indenture" covering that particular issue. The exact conversion terms of such things as convertible preferred stocks are spelled out in each company's charter.

And the terms are normally printed on each convertible security certificate.

Let's assume that the conversion terms on your convertible debenture are relatively simple. Because the debenture is convertible "at $24 a share," if you turn in the $1,000 par value debenture, you are entitled to receive 41 and two-thirds shares of stock. Normally, companies do not issue fractional shares of stock.

The conversion price is $24. One-third of $24 is $8. You pay that $8 to "round out" your holdings from 41 and two-thirds to 42 shares. If you don't "round out" by putting up the $8 cash, you will probably receive 41 shares of stock and $16 cash when you convert.

Again, I want to stress that conversion terms vary greatly. In some cases, convertible securities can only be converted by turning in those securities, plus a specified amount of cash.

It's smart to check the conversion terms on each convertible security with your broker.

Q. I started buying shares of a stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange through the Monthly Investment Plan a number of years ago. I stopped buying last year when I accumulated 100 shares. I now need to raise some cash and intend to sell 50 shares. I know my total cost of all 100 shares. But how do I figure out my cost on those 50 shares, so that I can report the profit on my Federal income tax return?

Do I figure my cost of the 50 shares I sell as half of my total cost of all 100 shares?

A. You could do that — thereby using the "average cost" method. But a better method, most likely, would be to use the "identified share" method. This method can save you tax dollars. You sell those shares for which you paid the highest prices. As a result, you report lowest possible profit from the sale. Smaller profit — smaller tax bite.

Each time you made an investment through the Monthly Investment Plan you received a "confirmation statement," listing the price you paid. Look through your confirmation statements, pick out those listing the highest purchase prices. Instruct your broker to sell your 50 highest cost price shares.

Play it safe and put your instructions to the broker in writing. Keep a copy of those instructions for your own records — just in case the Internal Revenue Service gives you an argument.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Jaycees Plan Block Party Tonight

IMMEDIATELY following the Halloween Parade tonight, sponsored by the Pocono Mountain Jaycees, a "Get Out the Vote" Block Party will be held in the Court House Square.

The object of this dance is to make a non-partisan appeal to all registered voters to cast their ballots November 6. The party is sponsored by the Monroe County Young Republican Club.

Richard C. Davis, chairman of the party, said it is vital for all citizens of the county to take an active part in governmental affairs. All residents of Monroe County are invited.

Cup Corporation Elects President

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of Lily-Tulip Cup Corp. have elected F. Norman Hartmann, formerly vice president for planning and development, as president and chief operating officer.

Hartmann succeeds Walter J. Bergman, who will continue as board chairman and chief executive officer. Bergman will be freed of operating matters to permit greater time for policy matters, the directors said.

Hartmann was president of the Butler Paper Products Co., Toledo, before coming to Lily-Tulip.

WHAT IS A NEUROLOGIST?

Answer — A physician who specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases of the brain, spinal cord and nerves leading to and from them, including the sympathetic nervous system.

If any members of your family suffer from constantly recurring headaches, advise them to consult their family physician. If the cause is difficult to determine, he may wish to consult with a Neurologist.
